

Jacinda: Jacinda is at the top of her class in many aspects – her grades, her extracurricular involvement, her volunteer work, and her personality all stand out as exceptional. Jacinda has taken our most rigorous courses offered, and has found success each time. Jacinda has excelled in courses ranging from AP Literature to AP Calculus, with other artistic and academic courses in between. She is an incredibly well-rounded student who is capable of anything that she puts her mind to, and there is no end to her intellectual curiosity and determination to succeed.

While not in class, Jacinda is involved in many different activities here at Lower Moreland. She has been participating in the Choir for all four years, and is also in Honors Choir and acts as Secretary for the organization. She also participates on the Lacrosse team and the Mini-THON, an organization that raises awareness and funds for pediatric cancer. As a Mini-THON Captain, she is responsible for the Corporate Committee of THON. She reaches out to local business and corporations to elicit donations and sponsorship for the dance marathon, and assists with the financial aspect of raising the money.

Growing up with a brother with special needs has taught Jacinda a lot about life. She believes this has made her a better person – more patient, kind, giving, and willing to lend a helping hand. She utilizes every opportunity she can to help others, even when overloaded with so many other obligations. She is intelligent, understanding, talented, and determined, and I know she will continue to find success as she goes forward.
